Fire engulfs Columbia Twp mobile home

Firefighters from five departments responded to a fire that engulfed a Columbia Township mobile home early Sunday morning.

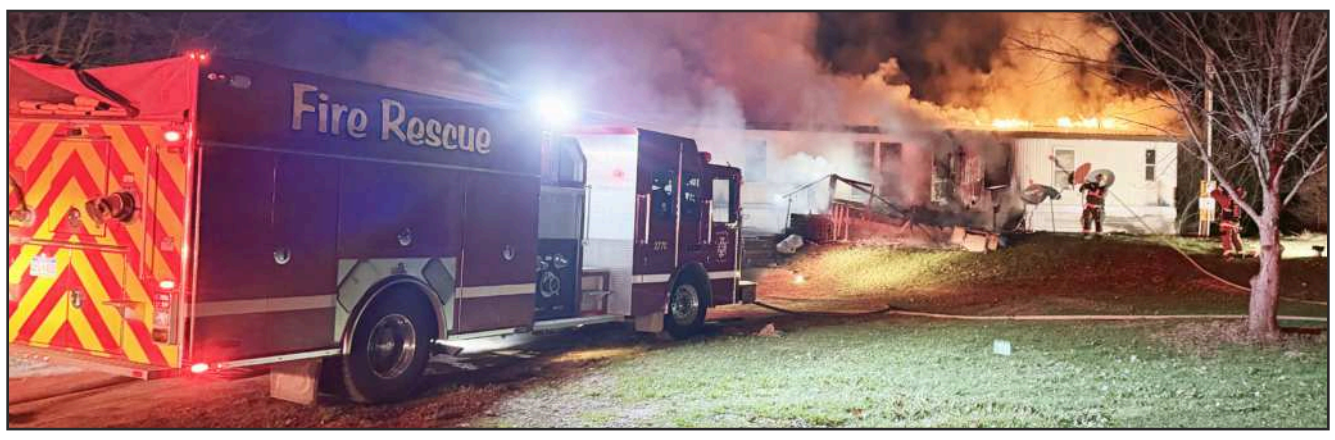
The departments were dispatched to 18th Avenue near 53rd Street, west of Breedsville in Van Buren County, at 3:12 a.m.

Responding was the Columbia Township Fire Department with mutual aid provided by the Bangor Community, Bloomingdale, Lee Township and South Haven Emergency Services (SHAES).

The lone occupant escaped without injury.

The fire appeared to have started on the front porch and spread throughout the structure.

One firefighter suffered a cut to a hand and was treated on-scene by LIFE ambulance personnel. He continued his firefighting tasks.



Carlotto lawsuit against South Haven assigned to mediator

By James Windell

Phillip J. Green, the U.S. Magistrate Judge assigned to the Pat Carlotto case, has signed an order appointing a mediator in the case.

Carlotto, a 25-year veteran of the South Haven Police Department, was passed over for police chief after serving as interim police chief on two occasions in 2024 and 2025. Sgt. Adam DeBoer was appointed interim chief near the end of April 2025 and was in that position until being promoted to Chief in November, 2025.

In a lawsuit that Carlotto filed in November, 2025, after DeBoer was named chief, he states that he had qualifications, credentials, and experience that far exceeded those of the persons the City ended up hiring as its chief of police and that the reason he was not selected as Chief of the South Haven Police Department was because of retaliation and discriminatory treatment.

This month the matter has been referred to facilitative mediation, to be conducted in accordance with the Voluntary Facilitative Mediation Program as adopted by the U.S. District Court Western District of Michigan. In an order signed by Magistrate Green, both sides have selected Kathleen L. Bogas to serve as mediator. The order states that Bogas has specialized in employment law for over 30 years and has successfully mediated scores of employment cases, including many cases that were pending in the U.S. District Court for the Western District of Michigan.

According to Green's order, the initial facilitative mediation session will take place on or before August 31, 2026, and Bogas has the discretion to schedule additional sessions as necessary to facilitate resolution of this dispute. Prior to the scheduled mediation session, each party is to provide the Mediator with a concise memorandum setting forth that party's position concerning the issues to be resolved through mediation, including issues relative to both liability and damages.

The Voluntary Facilitative Mediation (VFM) Program in the U.S. District Court for the Western District of Michigan is a structured, court-approved alternative dispute resolution process designed to help parties settle civil cases through guided negotiation rather than litigation. It is described as a confidential, non-binding dispute-resolution process in which the mediator helps the parties negotiate by facilitating communication, helping identify issues, exploring settlement options, and guiding parties toward mutually acceptable resolutions. The mediator does not decide the case, make findings, or impose outcomes. However, a hallmark of VFM is said to be its ability to expand settlement discussions beyond strict legal issues, allowing creative solutions that might not be available through litigation.

Kathleen L. Bogas is a nationally recognized employment, civil rights, and personal injury trial attorney based in Bingham Farms, Michigan. She has consistently ranked among the top attorneys in Michigan and is widely regarded as a pioneer in employment litigation. She earned her J.D. degree from the University of Detroit Mercy School of Law in 1975, and the same year she was licensed to practice in Michigan. She has served as President of the National Employment Lawyers Association, the Michigan Trial Lawyers Association, and the Michigan Chapter of the American Board of Trial Advocates. She is a Fellow of the American College of Trial Lawyers, a Fellow of the College of Labor and Employment Lawyers, and has been awarded both the Champion of Justice Award by the State Bar of Michigan and the Distinguished Service Award given out by the State Bar of Michigan Labor & Employment Law Section.

SHHS geometry students create rafts from recycled materials

By Tom Renner

South Haven high school students in a geometry class took a recent assignment quite literally.

The assignment was created by Amy Cockburn, the high school principal who is also teaching the geometry class.

Students were tasked to apply circle geometry concepts in the construction of a raft that would be mathematically sound, buoyant and "community worthy". The raft had to be made of recyclable and easily accessible materials such as pop bottles, pool noodles, recycled food containers, inner tubes and PVC pipes. No more than ten dollars could be spent on materials. As part of the project the class created a water safety poster for use in the community.

In the end, the rafts were tested in the high school pool and competed in a community-judged competition. Members of the Rotary Club served as judges. Performance criteria used to judge the nine rafts included stability, load and speed. After the water test, students were quizzed by the judges.

A lesson well learned.

Planners approve Victoria Resort rezoning

By James Windell

A special meeting was called by the South Haven Planning Commission on March 23, 2026 in order to hold four public hearings. Three of the public hearings related to special land use applications. The other had to do with a Zoning Map Amendment for 241 Oak Street, South Haven.

Allison Koetsier, one of the owner of The Victoria Resort, which has been located at 241 Oak Street for more than 100 years, submitted a request to rezone the property from the R-1B District to the RM-1 Zoning District.

The Victoria Resort began its life in the 1920s as the Glassman Resort. It was built during South Haven's golden era of tourism, when thousands of visitors arrived each summer by steamship on Lake Michigan. Travelers would step off the boats and make their way to resorts like this one for fresh air, beaches, and a slower pace of life. Victoria Resort LLC purchased the resort in early 2025. The applicant appeared before the commission requesting a rezoning only and has not proposed any developmental changes at this time.

Speaking before the public hearing, Koetsier said that they would like to develop a gathering space for people using the B&B as well as the cottage on the property. However, there were several residents who spoke during the public hearing voicing opposition to the rezoning. While no one questioned the current owner's intended use of the rezoning, they indicated concern about a future owner of the property and what they might do. For instance, one resident stated that if the property is sold in the future, the new owners could build houses or condos.

Zoning Administrator, Kelly Getman-Dissette, told the Planning Commission that if the current owner or future owners wanted to build on the property or make any major changes they would have to come back before the Planning Commission to request a special land use. Nonetheless, the Planning Commission engaged in a lengthy discussion with some members supporting the concerns of the residents who spoke during the public hearing. Commission Paul Fitton, though, said that he saw no reason why the commission shouldn't rezone the property. "This has been a business for a hundred years," Fitton said. "This was a business before it was a neighborhood."

After going over the criteria for rezoning, most commissioners found that the rezoning request was appropriate and there were no factors that would lead the commission to deny the request. Finally, a motion was made by Larry Heinig to approve the rezoning. A majority of the commission voted to approve rezoning the property to RM-1 Multiple Family Residential.

The Planning Commission, after disposing of this highly debated rezoning, took on three Special Land Use applications.

The first had to do with 224 Elkenburg Street, South Haven. Terry and Tracy Brown submitted an application for special land use to use the dwelling unit at 224 Elkenburg Street as a short-term rental (STR). Amendments to the Zoning Ordinance that were passed in May of 2025 permit dwelling units within the STR overlay district to be used as STRs when authorized by the Planning Commission as a special land use.

The dwelling at 224 Elkenburg Street is a two-family dwelling located at Unit #8 of Phase II of the Trailside Condominium in the RM-1 Multiple Family Residential zoning district. The unit has three bedrooms and an attached garage with additional parking on the driveway.

The Everett Park development was initially approved as a multi-phase planned unit development (PUD) in 2006 with 198 dwelling units, an extension of the Kal-Haven Trail, and neighborhood commercial at the south end, off Aylworth Ave. Two parking spaces were required for each dwelling unit in Phase II. The PUD has been amended several times since its initial approval, most recently to permit the development of 24 townhomes along Elkenburg Street and Indiana Ave (Phase II). To date, 19 units of these units have received building permits.

A staff report noted that the development has been included in the STR overlay district where STRs are permitted by special land use. Staff reported that the proposed use of 224 Elkenburg Street as an STR is expected to be similar to neighboring properties as several neighboring homes are also STRs.

During the brief public hearing no residents came forward to dispute the request. Commissioner Michael Campbell moved to approve the request. The motion was seconded and a majority of the Planning Commission voted in favor of the motion.

The second Special Land Use request was from the owners of 509 Phoenix Street. Theresa Nowak submitted an application for special land use to use the third-floor efficiency dwelling unit at 509 Phoenix Street in downtown South Haven as an STR. Amendments to the Zoning Ordinance that were passed in May of 2025 permit dwelling units within the STR overlay district to be used as STRs when authorized by the Planning Commission as a special land use.

The building at 509 Phoenix Street is located in the City's Central Business District and consists of main floor commercial space, Nature's Country Cupboard, and two upper-level dwellings, referred to Unit A and Upper Unit. Unit A is currently registered as a business STR unit, and the Upper Unit is a personal rental unit. Nowak has applied for zoning compliance determinations in order to register under the new STR ordinance. However, she said she would like to convert the Upper Unit from a personal/Class II rental into an STR.

A staff report indicated that the dwelling units at 509 Phoenix Street, which are already STRs, are served by a separate entrance that does not conflict with other buildings on the street. Also, the building has already been constructed, and no new construction is planned. Getman-Dissette said that the applicant intends to comply with all additional licensing requirements to use the dwelling as an STR, and no variances are being sought. In addition, it was pointed out that the units are included in the STR overlay district where STRs are permitted by special land use.

Although there is no on-site parking, renters would be able to use municipal lots or on-street parking. In accordance with Section 704.2, there is no minimum parking requirement for non-residential uses in the CBD.

A short public hearing was held and no residents indicated concern with the special land use request. The commission voted to approve it.

The last of the public hearings had to do with an application by the owners of property at 500 Virginia Ave., South Haven, to be granted special land use in order to replace an inground pool in the lakefront yard. The property at 500 Virginia Ave. is also known as Oak Harbor Marina and it is located in the B-3 Waterfront Business zoning district.

Chris Coble of Blue Water Pools represented the owners and he told the commission that the pool was installed in the late 1980s and has reached its end of useful life. A staff report indicated that while pools are typically permissible by right under Section 2112, on waterfront lots pools must be approved as a special land use if placed on the waterfront side.

Although it was noted that pool replacement has begun, Getman-Dissette said that many people don't realize they need a permit or Planning Commission approval before beginning construction. A majority of the commission voted to grant special land use for the new pool.

Commissioners seek funding for new 911 Dispatch/ Emergency Operations Center

By Paul Garrod
Staff Writer
news4garrod@gmail.com

PAW PAW - On March 24, Van Buren County Commissioners approved the submission of an application for Congressional Directed Spending of $3 million for the purpose of constructing a new 911 Dispatch/Emergency Operations Center.

(911/EOC) CDS is an annual program where local units of government can apply for funds to implement high-impact public projects. This is sponsored by U.S. Sen. Gary Peters, who is a member of the Senate Appropriations Committee. This request would fall under the Homeland Security Subcommittee, which has a specific program for 911/EOCs.

911 Dispatch is a critical component of emergency response infrastructure, handling crises efficiently and coordinating resources. Emergency Operations Centers provide a single site where all the necessary resources can be together during large-scale emergencies such as natural disasters or a widespread incident.

Commissioners said with the start-up of Palisades, a fully operational 911/EOC is essential because not only is it required in order for the nuclear power plant to operate, but it will also connect various agencies (public safety, fire, medical, etc), support logistics, and strategic planning.

Supporting the construction of a 911 Dispatch/EOC in Van Buren County in conjunction with the restart of the Palisades Nuclear Power Plant is a high-impact and sound investment in public safety, national security, and regional energy resilience.

It will enhance emergency response capabilities, ensure that the local community is better prepared for potential nuclear emergencies, and help ensure the successful operation of the plant. This aligns with both federal homeland security objectives and the safety of the public, making it a compelling case for funding under the CDS program.

Commissioners said they are developing updated cost estimates, but the projections from previous studies, considering inflation, show an approximate cost of $10 million. Commissioners further stated there is county-controlled land for the dispatch center.

Commissioners are requesting $3 million from the CDS program. Other contributions will be made up of county distributions from General Fund Balance and potential partners like the state, private contributions and foundations. If there are differences remaining, a general obligation bond could be issued to be paid from captured increased tax revenue from the Palisades restart.

In another area, commissioners approved the acceptance of the 2025 Emergency Management Performance Grant (EMPG) of $8,908, and authorized Board Chair Kurt Doroh to sign the grant agreement.

The Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA), through the Michigan State Police, has allocated the 2025 Emergency Management Performance Grant (EMPG) funds to assist local governments in preparing for all hazards and improving emergency management capabilities.

The 2025 EMPG grant allocation to Van Buren County of $8,908 represents 8.498 percent of the salary and fringe benefits of the County's Emergency Program Manager (Coordinator).

The acceptance of the grant will assist the county in meeting the financial obligations related to the Emergency Management Program while enhancing the county's ability to respond to emergencies and disasters.

Commissioners approved a request from Van Buren County Specialty Courts to apply for $1 million in funding through the Bureau of Justice Assistance to support and strengthen the county's Swift and Sure Sanction Probation Program.

The program serves individuals who are at significant risk of incarceration and provides a structured, accountability-based alternative grounded in evidence-based practices. Through intensive supervision, frequent and randomized drug testing, graduated sanctions, and coordinated access to treatment and housing supports, the program promotes behavior change while protecting public safety.

Swift and Sure is designed to reduce pretrial recidivism, interrupt cycles of substance use and criminal behavior, and ensure consistent judicial oversight for participants who may otherwise pose a continued risk to the community.

The proposed funding will support key personnel essential to program implementation and fidelity, including:

- 15 percent of a case management position
- 30 percent of a program assistant position
- 50 percent of a drug testing staff member.

Maintaining adequate staffing levels ensures timely responses to violations, consistent participant contact, and adherence to the swift and certain model that is central to the program's effectiveness.

The Specialty Court Program operates on a reimbursement basis, meaning that program costs are initially incurred by the county and reimbursed following the submission and approval of eligible expenses. As such, the county's support in providing upfront funding is essential to ensure the program's continuity and effectiveness while awaiting reimbursement.

Commissioners approved the Van Buren Youth Fair Association's sublease of approximately 30 acres of fairground property to Vassar Farms for the 2026 agricultural season.

Under the lease agreement dated Feb. 25, 2014, between Van Buren County and the Van Buren Youth Fair Association, the association is permitted to sublet the leased premises or any part thereof with written consent from the county. The fair association has negotiated a one-year sublease agreement with Vassar Farms for use of approximately 30 acres of tillable farmland beginning in Spring 2026 through Dec. 31, 2026, for $3,150. This portion of land, located in Hartford Township, is currently not in use during the off-season and would otherwise remain fallow. Authorizing the sublease supports beneficial agricultural use of the land, improves soil health through responsible cultivation, reduces weed and pest issues associated with unused acreage.

All income generated from the sublease will go directly to the Van Buren Youth Fair Association to support youth programming and maintenance of fairground facilities.

Commissioners approved the updated Van Buren County Planning Commission Bylaws as recommended by the Planning Commission.

The Van Buren County Planning Commission recently reviewed and recommended revisions to its bylaws to improve operational efficiency and clarify several administrative provisions. The Planning Commission approved the revised bylaws and requested final approval from the Van Buren County Board of Commissioners as required under the Michigan Planning Enabling Act, Act 33 of 2008.

The most significant revision reduces the membership of the Planning Commission from 11 to nine members. This change is intended to improve meeting attendance and ensure the commission can more consistently achieve a quorum for conducting business.

Additional revisions to the bylaws include minor clerical corrections, clarification of staff support roles, and updates to officer nomination language to improve clarity and consistency with current operating practices. The core purpose, authority, and responsibilities of the Planning Commission remain unchanged.

Commission membership of 11 to nine members will result in a small reduction in per diem and mileage reimbursement expenses associated with Planning Commission meetings. No additional financial impact on the county is anticipated.

Commissioners approved the submission of the FY 26-27 Michigan Indigent Defense Commission annual grant application. It is a renewal, Oct. 1, 2026, to Sept. 30, 2027, of the existing MIDC Grant that funds the Office of the Public Defender. This is the third operation after separating from Allegan County and is basically an as-is renewal request that takes into consideration increased personnel costs and possibly Juvenile Lifer cases.

The total grant will be approximately $3.1 million and requires a county maintenance effort of $308,000, which will be budgeted. An approximation of the grant has been given because, with the date to submit the grant application being moved up, the county is still awaiting further information. That approximation is based on last year's budget.

The Lucky Wolf announces sale of business

PAW PAW - The Lucky Wolf is Paw Paw's gem of a performance venue, cafe; and bar located in the historic Paw Paw Playhouse, formerly First Baptist of Paw Paw, built in 1857.

India and Jason Deibler-Love purchased the playhouse in 2022 and transformed it into what it is today, with a lot of help from their team. India died unexpectedly in 2023, leaving Jason and their three small children to push forward with support of the community, helping create this inclusive hub for the creative and "third place" for many.

"It is with optimism and happiness, albeit a little bittersweet, that I would like to share that the Smallcombs will be buying the Lucky Wolf and carrying India's torch forward," said Deibler-Love.

From the Smallcombes: "We are deeply honored to carry forward the exceptional foundation established by India and Jason at The Lucky Wolf. We remain committed to honoring India's vision by nurturing an inclusive space that inspires creativity and connection within the community."

Their son, Colin, was one of the very first to join The Lucky Wolf team, working side by side with India. She quickly became a mentor to him, taking him under her wing and helping him grow into a talented barista and mixologist while sharing her love and knowledge of the hospitality industry. Not long after, their other son, Caden, joined the team, making it a true family experience.

Both Nate and Karen are Southwest Michigan natives who are passionate about the arts, specialty cocktails, delicious coffee, historic building restorations, and creating outstanding customer service experiences.

Nate and Karen are working closely with Jason throughout this transition to ensure a seamless experience for the patrons and are excited to share that some fun updates are on the way.

Van Buren Youth Initiative is growing

PAW PAW - In a recent update to the Van Buren County Board of Commissioners about the Van Buren Youth Initiative (VBYI), leaders shared that local students are seeing more opportunities than ever before thanks to new funding and expanded programs.

This initiative is all about making sure our young people have safe, productive, and fun places to go after the school bell rings.

The program started in 2024 with an initial investment of $950,000 from the county's ARPA funds. So far, the county has used $502,559 of those funds to build a strong foundation for the students. This leaves $447,441 to keep these programs running through the end of 2026.

For every $1 of county funding invested, the initiative has already generated $1.11 in return. This shows that the commitment to local youth is a very wise investment for every taxpayer.

A notable highlight is how the local investment is bringing even more money into Van Buren County. Because of the success of the VBYI, the Van Buren Intermediate School District (VBISD) was awarded a $1,012,860 32n Out-of-School Time (OST) Grant. This grant was provided by MiLEAP, which is the Michigan Department of Lifelong Education, Advancement, and Potential.

The money will help expand after-school programs in eight of our local school districts: Bloomingdale, Decatur, Gobles, Hartford, Lawrence, Lawton, Mattawan and South Haven.

It also provides support for the Summer Van Buren Migrant and Multilingual Program, ensuring every student has a seat at the table during the school year and the summer months.

Students are receiving support from several different organizations. A $16,000 grant from the Michigan Arts and Culture Council, along with a $12,000 arts grant from the prior year, will bring local artists directly to the students. By partnering with the South Haven Center for the Arts, the initiative will host hands-on workshops in music and visual arts.

Students are also getting a boost in the classroom thanks to a $10,000 Technology and Media Equipment Grant from the South Haven Area Community Foundation. This is an opportunity for students in rural areas to explore their creativity and use modern tools to learn.

Students have expressed their appreciation for these programs. Students have said that the initiative gives them a sense of "freedom of art" and a place to "meet new people." Most importantly, it gives them something positive to look forward to every single day.

Program leader Erin Kucharski said that the secret to this success is teamwork. She noted that the program coordinator acts as a "connector" between the school districts and community partners. By working together, no resources are wasted and every student can participate, no matter their budget or where they live.

Schools' Vision Alignment Team meets for final session

By James Windell

In the third and final Vision Alignment Team (VAT) meeting on March 24, 2026, facilitators Michael Posthumus and Sara Melton, representatives from Fielding International, framed the session around moving from big vision statements to the practical, "messy middle" of what actually needs to happen day-to-day for our students.

School Superintendent Ana Aleman-Putman said at the beginning of the first VAT session in February, 2026, that the purpose of the meetings was to begin crucial work on vision alignment for South Haven Public Schools. "This will impact programming, resource allocation, and the broader strategic plan," Aleman-Putman said. "The district's strategic plan aims to connect decisions and ensure they are designed to support student learning and long-term success, rather than being isolated choices."

Michael Posthumus said that the output from this final session as well as from the two previous sessions will be compiled into a share-back document for participants to confirm accuracy. He went on to say that the compiled community voice will feed into a more formal strategic planning process with district leadership, focused on tangible actions rather than "hoping for a miracle."

Getting down to the work of the evening, Sarah Melton said that the previously identified six RAM Skills for Thriving were shared as verb-based competencies. These skills were: Analyze to understand; Create and discover; Communicate; Collaborate, Care for and contribute; and Self-navigate.

The participants, members of the community along with school representatives, were tasked with picking a difficult, messy, high-pressure young adult scenario and then to test whether the six skills were sufficient to cope with that situation. Common scenarios discussed included transitioning to independence (housing, bills, transportation), toxic work environments, layoffs/job advocacy, roommate conflict, and general "adulting" skills.

Participants noted many students struggle to ask for help due to timidity or a fear of being judged. Work-life expectations and generational communication differences were raised (e.g., differing needs for affirmation, differing communication styles). And practical life-readiness examples surfaced, such as managing money and/or bank accounts, basic cooking, and obtaining documents.

The team members were then directed to use "A or B" style continua for each competency and mark an X (or a "zone") to show where the community might lean. A repeated theme voiced by groups were that many choices felt like a blend, with fundamentals needed before creativity/independence can flourish.

The next task for the team, made up of South Haven residents along with school personnel, was to design Day-in-the-Life learner journey maps and community "power sources." The idea was for each of the groups to create learner journey maps (ideal day-in-the-life) for students of a particular grade in an effort to make the vision concrete.

Reporting out on their Day-in-the-Life maps, one group said that nutrition and food routines were foundational. Another group emphasized frequent interactions between high school seniors and teachers, professors, bus drivers, and peers. A third group included a device to help a student plan their day and goals (scaffolding self-navigation). Also, a 5th grade map emphasized health foundations: sleep hygiene, outdoor time, mental health, exercise, hydration.

Using a slide presentation, Melton shared their tour of South Haven school buildings. She said they noted that South Haven Schools had a strong investment in outdoor spaces (including outdoor dining and outdoor learning/amphitheater-style spaces). They also found abundant breakout spaces for independent/small-group work and "teacher hacks" that create comfortable work areas. Some of the wellbeing features they found included art/beauty, daylighting, softer lighting, plants, soft seating; and a counseling center centrally located in the high school.

The final activity of the session called for small groups to list the strengths of the South Haven community. Participants pointed to the variety of programs and opportunities (for example, fine arts, athletics, and activities) available in the small town of South Haven. Another group said that the city was welcoming and had an inclusive culture and student opportunities. A third group contributed their perception that there is strong interconnectivity across local organizations. And a fourth noted that diversity was a community strength.

In their wrap-up, Posthumus and Melton talked about what the next steps would be. They said that a "vision of success" could come from this discovery phase and that this would then help the school to move into strategic plan development with district leadership. They further stated that a portion of this work will be turned into a community survey (including student input).

In addition, the facilitators will compile and email a document summarizing the three sessions and participants will be asked to review and flag anything misrepresented.

Paw Paw Police Department honors sheriff's personnel and reserves

Paw Paw Police Department Part timers working short staffed

PAW PAW - The Paw Paw Police Department recently hosted a recognition ceremony honoring individuals and organizations who have demonstrated exemplary service and unwavering support to the department and the greater Paw Paw community over the past year.

During the ceremony, several deputies from the Van Buren County Sheriff's Office were individually recognized for their outstanding contributions. In addition, the Van Buren County Sheriff's Office Reserve Division was presented with a group award in acknowledgment of their collective dedication and service.

These honors reflect the continued commitment of Sheriff's Office personnel to not only countywide responsibilities but also to strong partnerships with local agencies. Throughout 2024, deputies and reserve members provided critical assistance to the Paw Paw Police Department during periods of reduced staffing, including support for large-scale community events, concerts, and seasonal festivals.

Their willingness to step in during times of need ensured the safety and continuity of community events that are vital to Paw Paw's local culture and economy. This collaboration highlights the strength of interagency cooperation and the shared mission of protecting and serving the public.

Sheriff Daniel Abbott commended the efforts of those recognized, noting that these partnerships are essential to effective public safety operations.

"This recognition underscores the importance of teamwork between agencies," said Sheriff Abbott. "When local departments and the Sheriff's Office work together, we are able to provide a higher level of service, improve response capabilities, and strengthen the trust we build with the communities we serve."

The collaboration between the Paw Paw Police Department and the Van Buren County Sheriff's Office serves as a model of mutual support, resource sharing, and unified response. By working together, both agencies are better equipped to handle staffing challenges, large public gatherings, and evolving public safety needs.

The Van Buren County Sheriff's Office extends its gratitude to the Paw Paw Police Department for the recognition and looks forward to continued collaboration in serving the residents of Van Buren County and the Village of Paw Paw.

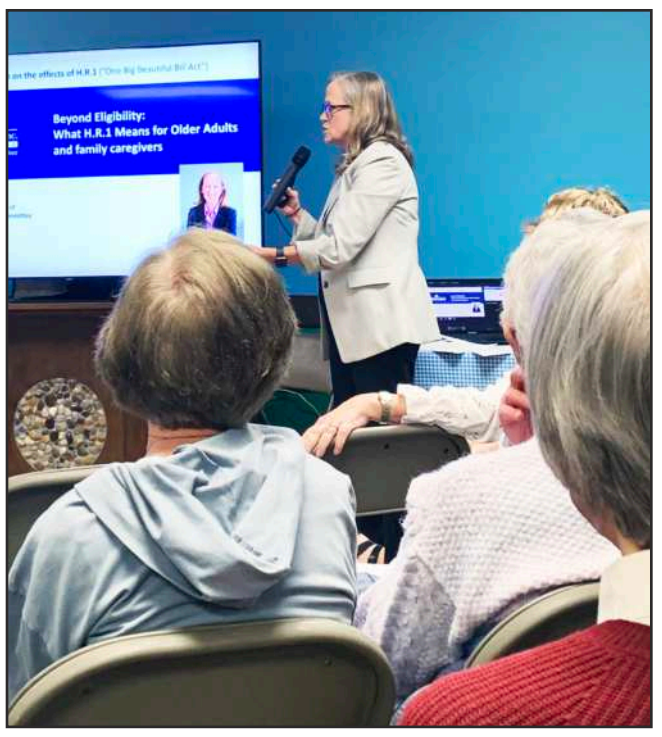
AAUW holds community conversation on Big Beautiful Bill



Christine Vanlandingham

Nicole Hudson

By James Windell

If South Haven's AAUW Public Policy Committee wanted to have a community conversation about how H.R.1 ("One Big Beautiful Bill") may affect people in our area, the many questions and comments from an audience at Church of the Epiphany on Thursday, March 26, 2026 should have convinced them that the community was indeed interested in a conversation.

Two speakers made presentations and took questions from the audience. Leading off was Nicole Hudson, Director of the Office of Oversight & Program Coordination, Michigan Department of Health & Human Services (MDHHS).

Hudson, speaking about H.R.1, focused primarily on Medicaid and emphasized many items in the bill are federally mandated and, thus, the state has limited implementation choices. She flagged the uncertainty related to issues in the bill due to missing federal government guidance on several provisions, although she said that Michigan is already building systems to meet required timelines.

Hudson went over four key Medicaid areas. One of these key areas is work requirements, which she said applies only to the Healthy Michigan Plan (HMP)/Medicaid expansion population who are 19 to 64 years old. According to the bill, those who are in the HMP have to renew every six months. All of the work requirements, which include 80 hours a month of approved activities for non-exempt individuals, go into effect on January 1, 2027. Hudson said that qualifying activities include paid work, community service (although the definition of community service has not been handed down by the government), participation in a work program, at least half-time education, or a combination of these activities totaling 80 hours.

Hudson pointed out that there were exceptions to the work requirement of H.R.1 and these exemptions include caretakers of children under the age of 13; foster youth under 26; people participating in a substance use program; disabled veterans; and those who are "medically frail." Unfortunately, the government has not defined what "medical frailty" means.

Hudson said that starting in October, 2026, some legally residing non-citizens will no longer qualify for full Medicaid. Among these are refugees, humanitarian parolees, asylum grantees, certain abused spouses, and victims of human trafficking.

She also told the audience that currently the HMP population in Michigan is around 700,000 people, but that when the bill goes into effect they project that up to 200,000 people could lose their coverage. She added that the consequences of H.R.1 will likely include higher uninsured rates, delayed care, increased emergency department use, more uncompensated care and medical debt, and greater strain on rural hospitals.

After fielding many questions, some of which she could not answer because of the lack of federal government guidance, it was Christine Van Landingham's turn to present.

Van Landingham, who is CEO, Region IV Area Agency on Aging, focused on how changes aimed at ages the 19 to 64 population will have a ripple effect on older adults who are over 65 years of age. These ripple effects she said will be the result of added stress to households, caregivers, and health systems.

She pointed out that one in five Michigan adults are family caregivers. She stated that a concern was that H.R.1 may destabilize caregivers because of Medicaid/SNAP disruptions and unclear "community service" definitions and that this cause increased caregiver strain and raise the demand for Medicaid-funded long-term services.

However, she told the audience that Medicare does not cover prolonged nursing home care, and that home and community-based services (HCBS) help prevent or delay nursing home placement and, in the long run, are cheaper.

Van Landingham, though, did off a "ray of sunshine" that could come out of H.R.1. "Section 71121 creates an optional new HCBS waiver concept to support people with significant needs before they meet nursing-home levels of care," she said.

During the final Q&A portion of the evening, Hudson mentioned the governor's FY27 budget proposal requesting about 585 new staff tied to implementing H.R.1. Medicaid eligibility threshold. Van Landingham said that State Health Insurance Assistance Program (SHIP) counselors are available year-round to help people understand Medicare/Medicaid and other options.

The speakers suggested that people contact their member of Congress to support reauthorization/modernization of the Older Americans Act. And that they consider attending advocacy events, such as the Region IV Legislative Forum on April 13, 2026, in Lansing.

First SHAES cadet becomes certified firefighter

Fire departments across the country are faced with a growing personnel crisis, especially those who rely on volunteer community members for meeting staffing needs.

South Haven Area Emergency Services (SHAES) Executive Director Brandon Hinz decided to do something about it.

Three years ago, Hinz established the SHAES Cadet program for local high school students. While pursuing State of Michigan firefighter certification through an Academy or a School District course, the Cadets experience the profession first-hand by attending SHAES drills with current staff, responding to real-life emergencies and just hanging around the fire hall.

"Neighboring fire departments experienced great success with their FF Cadet programs, so I utilized their guidance in developing our own." Columbia Twp, Graafschap and North Berrien Fire Departments all shared policies and protocol to help develop a program that suited SHAES.

Cadets are equipped with turnout gear and pagers. Their role at emergencies is to observe, not to fire-fight. A staff member serves as an on-scene mentor. The program has grown to currently have six cadets.

Michigan firefighters must be 18 years old to officially be certified as a Firefighter. This week marked a first. South Haven's first cadet became an officially certified paid-on-call firefighter.

Hinz's dream came to fruition at 12:01 a.m. Thursday when Ayden Quinn transitioned from cadet to firefighter.

This is a great story that goes beyond the Cadet program. Ayden becomes a third generation SHAES firefighter, joining his father, Tim, and grandfather, Don. Tim is an active Lieutenant in the department while Don retired from the department with 50 years of service, first with the Covert Fire Department, then South Haven Fire Department and the last 25 years with SHAES. His grandmother, the late Pat Quinn, served on the Covert and SHAES departments.

A senior at South Haven High School, Ayden over the years, before the Cadet program even started, would frequently be seen at a fire scene or at the station with his dad.

"This milestone moment is so rewarding," said Chief Hinz. "I am grateful to our friends at the Van Buren ISD, the Van Buren and Berrien training councils, the families of our cadets and to our current SHAES staff for their support. Fire protection has been a South Haven community priority since the department's founding in 1888. Programs like this will assure its continued service long into the future."

Ramageddon finishes sixth in District Robotics Tournament

By James Windell

When Ramageddon showed up at Berrien Springs High School for the FIRST Robotics competition two weeks ago, they had no idea how well they would do.

Competing against other area teams, the South Haven High School robotics team – called Ramageddon – acquitted themselves in stellar fashion – walking away from the two-day tournament by finishing 6 out of the 36 teams.

That was on March 21 and 22, 2026, and after that competition they had just one week to get ready for the second competition taking place March 27 to 29 in Battle Creek where 40 teams would vie for awards. In this FIM District Battle Creek Event, teams from all over Michigan compete to receive District Ranking Points based on their performance and awards.

"We did very well at our first event, but we know the competition will only get fiercer as the season progresses," Ramageddon Coach Zach VanHuis said prior to the Battle Creek event. "We'll be putting in a lot of hours this week to improve our designs and programming. We have made changes to the launcher angle to help us more consistently score from farther away. We will also be working to improve our intake with an entirely new system that should allow us to fill the robot much faster."

Coach Kim Wise said that during the awards ceremony, Ramageddon was presented with the Imagery Award. "This award recognizes teams for outstanding visual aesthetic integration of their machine and team appearance," she said. "It celebrates teams that create a cohesive, attractive theme across their robot, uniforms, and pit display."

VanHuis added that if time allows, they will be working to improve the conveyor system to make sure the launcher can get the balls out as quickly as possible. "On the programming side, we will work to streamline our operator controls by combining more functions into single button presses and we will work on improving how much we can score during the autonomous period," he said

The task for the robot in all events this year is the same: Robots must collect yellow balls and launch them into a chute to score points. While Ramageddon did well enough to get a 6th place finish, there's always room for improvement said VanHuis.

"There's always 'just one thing' to try on mechanisms, code, and autonomous routines," VanHuis explained. "We meet throughout the week on our normal schedule and, in the case of Saturday and Sunday competitions, we have been pulling the students out of class early on Friday to spend most of the day taking over the ILC for prolonged driver practice and last-minute changes. Throughout the week, we're sure to scout the other teams that have already competed to get an idea of who to look out for."

He said that the team will go to Battle Creek High School with certain goals in mind. "After our performance at Berrien Springs, we are well within range of qualifying for the State Championship, but it will still be a fight to get there. At the end of the day, all I hope for is that our robot functions, our students have fun, and that they learn new lessons for next season and their lives afterward."

In thrilling, sports-like competitions throughout the three-day event in Battle Creek, Ramageddon competed valiantly.

"We finished in 14th place after being picked up by the 8th seed alliance captain," said Coach Kim Wise on Sunday night at the end of the Battle Creek event. "We made it through two rounds of playoffs on Sunday before being eliminated in the 3rd round."

Still hoping to be selected for the state robotics tournament coming up in April at Saginaw Valley State University, Wise said that Ramageddon is "on the bubble" for that event. "We will have to be patient and see how the next few weeks of competitions go before we find out if we can go to Saginaw Valley State University," she said.

Shame on Congress, sexual harassment, misconduct claims will remain secret

MIKE'S MUSINGS

MIKE WILCOX
n PUBLISHER n

There are few things more corrosive to public trust than the appearance that those in power play by a different set of rules. Congress's long-standing practice of shielding the identities of lawmakers who used taxpayer-funded settlements to resolve sexual harassment claims is one of those practices—and it should end. The fact that lawmakers recently voted to keep those names confidential only deepens the problem—and the public's frustration.

For years, allegations involving members of Congress were quietly funneled through the Office of Congressional Workplace Rights, formerly the Office of Compliance, with settlements paid out of a secretive fund. While reforms in recent years have shifted financial responsibility to individual lawmakers, the culture of secrecy remains stubbornly intact. The question is simple: why should the public be kept in the dark about misconduct committed by elected officials, especially when public money was used to resolve those claims?

That question became unavoidable earlier this month when Congressperson Nancy Mace forced a vote to bring transparency to the system. Her proposal would have required the release of records related to sexual harassment and misconduct claims—while still protecting victims by redacting their identities. It was a measured, reasonable attempt to balance privacy with accountability.

And yet, it failed—decisively.

By a margin of roughly 357–65, members of Congress from both parties voted to keep those records hidden. It was a rare moment of bipartisan unity, but not one the American public should celebrate. Instead of choosing transparency, lawmakers chose to protect the institution—and, by extension, themselves.

When I saw the vote total I was flabbergasted. Congress is roughly divided evenly between male and female, yet dozens if not a few hundred female representatives voted to keep sexual harassment claims secret. Please explain to me why?

In virtually every other workplace in America, accountability matters. When executives or employees engage in harassment and a settlement is reached, there are often consequences—professional, reputational, or legal. Yet in Congress, the very institution tasked with writing and enforcing the nation's laws, there has historically been a quiet escape hatch. Names withheld. Records sealed. Accountability deferred.

Defenders of anonymity argue that confidentiality protects victims, and that is a valid and important concern. Survivors of harassment should never be forced into the spotlight against their will. But protecting victims and shielding perpetrators are not the same thing. It is entirely possible—and necessary—to safeguard victims' identities while still disclosing the names of those who abused their power. In fact, failing to do so often protects repeat offenders and enables patterns of misconduct to continue unchecked.

Transparency is not about punishment—it's about trust. Voters have a right to know whether the individuals representing them have used public funds to settle allegations of serious wrongdoing. These are not private citizens; they are public servants entrusted with authority, influence, and taxpayer dollars. Concealing their actions erodes confidence in government and reinforces the perception of a protected political class.

The recent vote to keep these records confidential also undermines deterrence. If lawmakers know that any misconduct will remain hidden, quietly resolved behind closed doors, what incentive is there to change behavior? Sunlight, as the saying goes, is the best disinfectant. Transparency would send a clear message: no one is above the standards they impose on others.

This is not a partisan issue. Misconduct knows no party lines, and neither should accountability. Whether Democrat or Republican, any lawmaker who has used a taxpayer-funded settlement to resolve harassment claims should be subject to public scrutiny. Anything less is a disservice to the American people.

Congress has made some progress, but not enough. Reforms that require members to personally repay settlements are a step in the right direction, but they do not address the core issue of transparency. And with a vote that so overwhelmingly reinforces secrecy, Congress risks further eroding what little trust remains.

If Congress wants to restore faith in its institution, it must start by holding itself to the same standards it expects from everyone else. That means reversing course, releasing the names, and proving that accountability is more than just a talking point.

County Sheriff's Office receives grant to purchase forensic computer

"Our Office has obtained $52,123 through the PA 166 of 2022 Public Safety Grant. We have used the funds for a forensic computer, TruNarc for evidence processing, a money counter capable of recording serial numbers and detecting counterfeit money used in illegal drug transactions, and other misc. items to help our office with needs to aid in doing our jobs at a high level. I would like to give a shout out to Captain Jim Charon for staying on top of grant funding and obtaining funds like this so our office can make purchases like these and help save taxpayer dollars," said Sheriff Daniel Abbott.

"Our office hosted along with the Michigan Commission of Law Enforcement Standards the updated training for Law Enforcement Response to Stalking/PPO/Bond Violations. It was held at our office in our EOC room. Numerous other law enforcement agencies, as well as ours, attended the training which went over when and where to arrest, what to charge along with an in-depth course on stalking with the added layer of PPO or bond violation," said Sheriff Abbott.

"I just hit another milestone in my career completing my 33rd year of service to the citizens of Van Buren County in law enforcement. All 33 years have been served at the Van Buren County Sheriff's Office. I honestly could not be more blessed to serve in our county, work with the professionals not only in our office, but across the county in general. I knew coming out of Ferris State University after obtaining my bachelor's degree in criminal justice that our office was where I wanted to serve my career in which I've been blessed to be able to do so. Thank you not only for the support of me as your sheriff, but for our overall office and all the law enforcement and first responders serving in our community," said Sheriff Abbott.

"Our Animal Control Division will host a free Microchip Clinic, April 6-11, during normal shelter hours while supplies last. Funding will be provided by MDARD through a grant we have been awarded," said Sheriff Abbott. County residents can have their dogs microchipped and registered at no cost. Owners must bring their dog(s) and ID to the shelter. This is only available to Van Buren County residents.

"We were honored to present Mr. Ricky Holly a Letter of Commendation this past week. Mr. Holly was driving by a residence in Pine Grove Township that was on fire and stopped immediately. Without hesitation, he ran into the residence and opened doors so the pets could escape. He also helped a physically challenged individual out of the residence. Without his selfless act of bravery, the outcome could have been very different. Thank you, Ricky Holly!!" said Sheriff Abbott "Questions come up at times reference Amish Buggies. One question that came up recently is passing them in a no-passing zone. Horse-drawn buggies are treated like other vehicles with additional provisions not necessarily applicable to horses alone. A horse drawn buggy qualifies as an "implement of husbandry" such as a tractor. So, in short, you cannot pass them in a no-passing zone. Amish buggies are required to follow the same laws as vehicles when they are travelling on the roadway such as stop signs, speed limits, etc.," said Sheriff Abbott.

"Reach the Forgotten Fundraising Banquet is Just Over a Month Away. It's being held at Freshwater Church in Paw Paw on May 7. The money raised goes directly to RTF for the ministry being done at our jail. If you've never been to one, you won't be disappointed if you attend. There is always great fellowship, and you'll hear from inmates in which RTF has made a difference in helping turn their lives around. RVSP by April at jailministry.org," said Sheriff Abbott.

"I would like to thank the public for the number of tips that come into our office with information. We receive numerous tips about drugs, animal cruelty, domestic violence, child abuse, etc. I can assure you every tip that comes in gets looked at and investigated. Just as a reminder, you can send them in anonymously as well if you are concerned about your name being involved," said Sheriff Abbott.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Falling (RAPIDLY) Star

Falling (RAPIDLY) Star

Dear Editor:

Once upon a time, Michigan GOP members might have had renewed hope of a young, rising star in their midsts. Sadly, this star, Aric Nesbitt, has fallen into the very swamp he supposedly wants to drain, a swamp now nothing more than a septic drain field thanks to this fallen star's severely damaged hero, Donald Trump.

Nowhere is this more painfully obvious than in the recent $252,000 worth of Aric Nesbitt's bizarre "down on the farm" campaign commercials for his quest to win the Republican gubernatorial primary.

"I stand with Donald Trump" he proudly states as he holds a piglet under each arm. He talks of shoveling "bleep" and castrating pigs. Yes! Castrating! Pigs!

It's truly sad that Mr. Nesbitt has failed to notice that his hero's approval rating is at an all time low. Even his advisors have tried to convince Nesbitt that he should rapidly distance himself from Donald Trump, for clearly obvious reasons.

Unfortunately, his tarnished hero has rendered the majority of Republican Congressional members completely afraid and powerless. It's beyond ironic that Mr. Nesbitt tells us he stands with Trump in practically the same breath as he brags about the act of castrating pigs. With Trump it's GOP senators and representatives. With Nesbitt, it's pigs.

It's high time Mr. Nesbitt returns to the family farm full time, for the good of all (except the piglets).

Sincerely,

John McLellan

Star of the Lake music series debuts

By James Windell

The Scott Spears Trio will be the first musical act in the new Star of the Lake Music Series in downtown South Haven on Friday, April 3, 2026.

According to Rob Byrd, who is producing the series, the music series will be held at one of the architectural gems of South Haven – the Masonic Temple Building at 321 Center Street. This is where Star of the Lake Masonic Lodge #158 has been meeting since its charter was issued in 1865.

"One of the founding members was Liberty Hyde Bailey," says Rob Byrd, a local filmmaker and radio show host, "and he came up with the name 'Star of the Lake,'" The Masonic Temple building was constructed in 1913.

Byrd says that each show in the music series will be a fundraiser for some local nonprofit organizations. "The first show will be a fundraiser for the Masonic Lodge to be able to make improvements and begin to distribute money to charities," Byrd, who is Master of the Lodge, noted. He also added that alcohol sales during the show will benefit a local charity.

Guitarist Scott Spears, whose trio headlines the first show in the series, started the 1980s band the Wild Woodys, a Kalamazoo-based rockabilly trio that toured throughout Michigan and Canada. The group played many festivals throughout North America and opened for several concerts at the Kalamazoo State Theater. In 1993, the Wild Woodys won the Stoker Award for Best Locally produced album.

After disbanding the Wild Woodys, Spears joined the Detroit band The Twistin' Tarantulas, going on national tours and playing in venues from New York City to Hollywood, California. Currently, Spears leads his trio which plays electric guitar–driven blues rock with a strong Jimi Hendrix influence. Byrd indicates that in his concert in South Haven, he will perform covers like "Castles Made of Sand" and "Manic Depression," both of which were Jimi Hendrix recordings, as well as similar classic rock/blues material.

The concerts in the Star of the Lakes Music Series will take place at 7:00 pm in the dining room on the third floor in the Masonic Temple, 321 Center Street, South Haven. "Seating is limited to 65 people," Byrd says, "but if we ended up with more people, we can move the concert to our larger meeting room,"

Tickets are $25 for the concert and can be purchased at the door on April 3. To reserve a ticket ahead of time, contact Rob Byrd at moondogpro1@moondog.com or text him at 269-767-3001.

OBITUARIES

Kenneth Carl Barnes

Kenneth Carl Barnes passed away peacefully at his beloved farm on March 8, 2026. He was surrounded by his wife, Judy, his daughters and son-in-laws and niece Sarah as he moved on to new adventures.

Ken was born on August 15, 1939, in Chicago, IL to William and Dorothy Barnes. When Ken was a young boy, the family moved to a farm near Decatur, MI where his love of the outdoors and farming began. His father instilled in him a passion for flying -- Ken would go on to obtain recreational pilot licenses in both single engine planes and helicopters -- and also started him in the mechanical trades. He was a member of the Plumbers and Pipefitters Union.

Ken joined the National Guard in high school and, after graduation from Decatur High School in 1957, he attended college where he met his life-long sweetheart, Judith Rector. They were married in 1961. He then joined the Air Force for four years, stationed mainly at Wurtsmith Air Force Base in Oscoda, MI. After leaving the Air Force, he moved to Paw Paw, MI and began working in the HVAC trades. He continued to serve his country by joining the Air National Guard, stationed in Battle Creek, for a total of more than 26 years of honorable service. He was also a member of the American Legion in Decatur.

During this time, Ken and Judy began their family; Robert of Palatine, IL, Susan (David) Crouse of Paw Paw, Charles (Karen) of Galesburg and Kathleen (Craig) Northrup of Midland. He was also blessed with grandkids, Brian (Chelsea) and Abby (Victor) Crouse, David Barnes and Deanna Barnes and great grandchildren Ramsey, Avery, Roman and Poppy. His family grew with step-grandchild Taylor Northrup and her children Kolt and Kova. Education was very important to Ken, and he and Judy helped fund trusts for the future education of all six great grandchildren.

Ken was preceded in death by his parents and his siblings William (Carol) of Paw Paw, Michael (Vicki) of Spring Lake and Karen (Ralph) of Paw Paw. His sister Nancy (Barry) Davis of Alberta, Canada survives.

Ken's adventures never slowed. After raising their kids, Ken and Judy fulfilled their lifelong dream by purchasing a 100-acre farm and creating a 'heaven on earth' natural escape where many friends and family came to visit. Dad excelled at teaching the young people who came to work on the farm, providing a hands-on education on mechanical engineering, residential construction and problem solving with creative approaches on a complex and diverse farm. There are countless treasured stories from his many mentees and various renters of their adventures on the farm and beautiful fishing lake. In recent years, Ken and Judy have especially appreciated the work and friendship of Liam and Karley Marshall around their property.

There will be a memorial service and dedication for Ken at his farm this summer.

Joanne E. Rossman

By Daughter: Judy Versalle (269) 615-1277

Joanne and Edward Rossman moved to Lake Brownwood, Paw Paw in 1948. With the arrival of their children - John, Tom, and Judy, they soon outgrew their small home. In 1959, a year after purchasing a farm south of Paw Paw, tragedy struck. Dad was diagnosed with leukemia and passed away within two weeks. Mom, a young woman with three small children and a mortgage, somehow found the strength and determination to carry on.

Together, Mom and us kids farmed the land - raising chicken for meat and eggs, growing crops, and canning what we harvested. Clothes were second hand, but there was always food on the table, and she made sure we were clean, cared for, and deeply loved.

When neighboring land became available, Mom saw an opportunity to improve our lives. With remarkable tenacity, she persuaded the local bank to grant her - a widowed mother with limited income - a loan to purchase land. She became the first woman to secure a property loan from the bank without a husband of cosigner!

Mom never stopped pushing forward. While farming, working additional jobs, and raising her family, she continued her education. She became Paw Paw Township Treasurer and later earned her real estate license. In time, the farm was sold, and she opened her own business, Town & Country Real Estate in Paw Paw.

After her children were grown, Mom moved to Charlotte, North Carolina where she continued her successful real estate career, formed many new friendships, and traveled the world.

On her 80th Birthday, Mom returned to Mattawan. To the surprise of no one, she lived independently, volunteered every Friday at the Paw Paw Community Thrift Shop, served on the Mattawan Planning and Zoning Board, and was a proud participant in Van Buren County Senior Services.

She leaves behind many dear and caring friends, as well as her loving family:

Her oldest son, John, and his wife Faye of Phoenix; their daughter Danielle and her husband Mac; and grandchildren Tatum and Lazarus.

Son, Tom Rossman of Mattawan

Daughter, Judy and her husband Mike Versalle, and their son Chris and his wife Kate; their daughter Dr. Marissa Versalle and her husband Brandon Gaddis.

Cloaked in dignity, strength and love....She was our Mentor, our Mother, and the one who kept our family together....Our Mother, Joanne Rossman

South Haven eyes another strong baseball season

By John Raffel
Correspondent

Coach Joe Dubina was very happy with the season his South Haven baseball team had last year and would not be surprised if success repeats itself in 2026.

"The Rams had a good season and finished first in the Lakeshore division of the SAC," Dubina said. "They had numerous players get all-conference and district accolades, as well as multiple all-academic honors at state and local levels. We had several contributors graduate last year, but are returning 8 letterwinners and 10 seniors overall.

8. Jacob Bosma- SR, IF/P, 2025 stats (recovering from injury)- .211 avg, 17 R (2024 Pitching)- 1st team all district, 1st team all conference as SP

"We also have some key young players and new additions. Logan Hudson is a freshman and has already been making an impact on the mound early in the season. He pitches and plays outfield," Dubina said. "Quin Hayes and Grayson Knox are both seniors that came back this year after taking a year off. Quin has been making an impact on the mound and in the outfield for the Rams.

'Grayson Knox has earned a starting role at second base early in the season and is one of the team leaders in batting average. Max Hanny is a sophomore middle infielder that has been contributing at both shortstop, second, and at the plate for us. We also have Rowan Fonseca, who is a top threat on the basepaths for us and is a solid outfielder."

Dubina added:

"We have high expectations for the team this year. We have 10 seniors who are hungry to have some success and also are great role models in our community. We have some very talented younger players that will be helping push our leaders to continue to compete every day. Our team strengths are defense, pitching, and experience. We have a conference outlined by three separate divisions, and we hope to compete for the top spot in the SAC this season."

Lawton's softball depth excites coach Ludwig

By John Raffel
Correspondent

LAWTON — Lawton softball coach Madison Ludwig was impressed with how her tam performed in 2025 and is looking forward tot he results from cc

"The 2025 season was a true testament to the hard work, resilience, and determination of this team," Ludwig said. "Despite being a young group, the girls consistently showed grit and perseverance while facing adversity throughout the season. They embraced the mindset of playing as one team and focused on becoming the best athletes they could be each day.

"One of the standout highlights came from junior pitcher Paityn Beam of Mattawan, who was on pace to reach nearly 100 strikeouts before an injury sidelined her during the final three weeks of the season. Additionally, freshmen Aubri Conklin and Payton Potter made an immediate impact at the plate, both acquiring an impressive batting average above .500 at some point in the season. Overall, the season was defined by growth, toughness, and a strong foundation for the future."

Graduation did take a toll.

"Two key athletes we will greatly miss from last season's team are Lily McCorry and Sarah Hernandez," Ludwig said. "Lily McCorry, our center fielder, was not only a captain but also the leader of our outfield. She brought consistency, positivity, and a strong competitive mindset every single day, no matter the opponent. Her ability to lead by example and stay composed in all situations made a lasting impact on our program.

"Sarah Hernandez, our second baseman and fellow captain, was the definition of calm, cool, and collected. She was someone we could always rely on to steady the team in high-pressure moments, whether that meant making a key play on the field or helping a teammate regain focus. Her leadership and presence will truly be missed.

"Both athletes played a huge role in shaping the culture of our team, and their contributions have set a strong standard for those returning this season.

Ludwig added

'This season, we are excited about the depth and versatility of our team. Rather than highlighting just a few individuals, we will be attaching a full roster, as we truly believe many of our athletes will play key roles throughout the season. We have several talented players who bring value in multiple positions, giving us great flexibility and strength across the field.

Our focus this year is on continued development—both physically and mentally. All players are committed to improving their skills while also strengthening their mental game through the Mental Edge Academy. Softball is a sport full of imperfect moments, and our emphasis is on how our athletes respond during those times. Their ability to stay composed, compete, and support one another will be a major factor in our success."

Ludwig's expectations are high

"Our expectations for this season go far beyond wins and losses. While we are always competitive and strive to be successful on the field, our primary goal is to develop these young women into confident, resilient, and disciplined individuals who are prepared for life beyond softball," she said. "We expect our athletes to commit to growth—both physically and mentally. Through their work with the Mental Edge Academy, we are emphasizing the importance of mental toughness, focus, and the ability to respond to adversity. Softball is a game of imperfections, and success is not defined by making mistakes, but by how our players respond when things don't go their way.

"We also expect our team to embrace their roles, support one another, and contribute to a positive and unified team culture. With a roster full of versatile athletes, we value adaptability and a team-first mindset. Whether in a starting position or stepping in when needed, every player has an important role in our success. Above all, we expect our athletes to represent our program with pride, integrity, and accountability—both on and off the field. If we can accomplish these things, the wins will take care of themselves, and more importantly, we will be developing strong, capable young women ready for whatever comes next."

Ludwig added:

"Our team's greatest strengths this season will be growth and sportsmanship. We are committed to continuous improvement, and we can confidently say that the team you see at the beginning of the season will not be the same team you face at the end."

The revenue received by the Village will be used by the Village to make improvements to and fund the operational and maintenance costs of the Village's parks. It is estimated that a levy of 1.5 mills would provide revenue of $157,615 in the first calendar year. The revenue from this millage levy will be disbursed to the Village of Paw Paw, for distribution to the Park Fund.
